REPORT OF THE TRUSTEES OF THE CALIFORNIA STATE LIBRARY.

SACRAMENTO, CAL., June 30, 1898.

To his Excellency JAMES H. BUDD, Governor of California:

We have the honor of submitting to you, in conformity with law, our biennial report for the forty-eighth and forty-ninth fiscal years. The report of the State Librarian is hereto attached and made a part hereof. It will be noticed that the two preceding years cover almost entirely the administration of our predecessors. As will be seen, the receipts for said period amount to $40,142 65; the expenditures amount to $43,622 46; the balance on hand, as per statement of the Controller, is $8,969 88.

We desire to follow in the line of the several suggestions contained in the report of the State Librarian, and especially commend for your notice his suggestion with reference to providing separate rooms for the Law Department and the opening of the same to the public during evening hours; the providing of a method for the future annual inventoring of books without extra employment; the carrying out of the new system of cataloguing which he has commenced; the strict enforcement of the rules pertaining to the loaning of books, and the suggestions with reference to the future of the library.

Respectfully submitted.

REPORT OF THE LIBRARIAN.

To the Honorable Board of Trustees of the California State Library:

GENTLEMEN: I have the honor to submit the following report for the two fiscal years ending June 30, 1898:

As State Librarian, I took possession of the office on the 6th day of April, a little less than three months prior to the date of filing this report. I have, therefore, to render an account of the two fiscal years during the incumbency of a former administration, with the exception of the time from April 6th to June 30th.

According to the report of the Controller of State, there is to the credit of the library fund, excluding the June receipts and expenditures, the sum of $8,969 88.

The receipts for these two years amount to $40,142 65, and the expenditures aggregate the sum of $43,561 97. Of this sum there has been paid out for books, maps, periodicals, newspapers, etc., the sum of $19,803 09.

In these two years the volumes in the library have increased from 100,618 to 107,010. On April 6, 1898, there were 160 volumes on the order list of the General Department, averaging about $400. Besides these, there were standing orders for art works, fine editions of noted authors, such as "Bancroft's Book of Wealth," at $100 per section, of which five sections are yet to come; "Brinkley's Japan," at $40 per section, of which four sections are yet to come, and the Grolier Club publications, at $25 per volume. The Boston Book Company holds orders amounting to about $1,600, for Supreme Court Reports and decisions of foreign countries, some of which were ordered as far back as 1886.

Since April 6th, I have ordered about 240 volumes, aggregating about $560. This order covers many of the new publications for the coming year.

I find that the books of the library have been selected with judgment, and if the same critical study is given to future purchases, it is destined to become a noted institution.

The report of the Librarian for 1890 shows 5,496 volumes to be lost or missing, the cause attributed to theft. This is the last inventory taken of the library property, and while I believe that the loss since that time has been but little, still this report illustrates not only the responsibility in the work and accuracy of a new inventory, but the importance and necessity for one.

A law was passed by the Legislature which compels all State officers to make and conclude an inventory of all State property in their charge on or before the 31st day of December, 1898. In conformity therewith, and in obedience to the direction of your honorable body to take such inventory, I did, on the first day of May, commence the taking of said inventory, and for such purpose I employed extra assistance, as authorized by your honorable body. I can positively state that said work could not be carried on without this extra assistance; that while this extra work for awhile increases the payroll, it is still $125 per month less than formerly expended for help without this extra necessity.

The work of inventorying is being prosecuted with care and industry, and is progressing as rapidly as the nature and scope of the task will permit.

The system of cataloguing originally adopted and now in vogue, seems to me to be inadequate to the needs and purposes of the library. The books are now catalogued only under the head of authors. This system reveals its vast treasures only to the savant, whose familiarity with authors and subjects enables him to turn to what he may desire. This is especially true in the Medical Department, which, valuable in itself, is yet deprived of its opportunities of enlightenment, save to those possessing a technical knowledge concerning it. When these volumes shall have largely increased in numbers the reasons for a different system of cataloguing will become more apparent. I have, in conformity with these ideas, commenced a different system, known as the dictionary catalogue. This is being done with the force at hand, and will not necessitate extra expense. It relates, however, to the new books, and affords no relief for the great library already on hand.

Under the rules, books taken from the library are required to be returned within two weeks from the time of taking them. I find receipts against persons privileged under the law to take books, bearing date from 1893 to the present time. By persistent effort I have been able to call in many of these books.

The spirit of the library has always been one of accommodation, which is surely commendable, yet, the experience of human affairs is an illustration of the fact that accommodation is apt to beget a disregard on the part of those benefited. I find that an enforcement of the rule is an innovation looked upon with disfavor, yet I believe that when the observance of the rule becomes the custom, it will prove a protection, not only to the lender but to the State officers themselves, who become sponsors for the number of people daily receiving books from the library. I am beginning a new system of receipts, showing the relation between the library, the State officer indorsing, thereby becoming responsible, and the actual recipient, which I hope will more effectually enforce the "limit of time" rule. I would suggest a change in this rule, permitting the Librarian to fix the maximum of time for which books may be retained. It often depends upon the character of a book and the matter under investigation as to how long it should remain in the hands of the recipient.

In making the order on the Controller for the money covering the monthly expenses of the library, I have adopted the plan of attaching thereto a statement showing in detail the items of expenditure. This provides a permanent index in the way of a public record to your acts and authorizations, as well as my own, and it also provides the public at all times with a complete knowledge of library expenditures and the nature of them. The public should have such an index, easily accessible, in order that it may be kept advised as to library matters.

I find a lack of accommodation in the library, and it becomes necessary to provide room for the books fast accumulating. To make extra shelves is to provide only for a temporary relief, and it would have such a result of disarrangement as to destroy the idea of system. The Law Department seems to be entire and of itself, separately catalogued and requiring the especial supervision of a deputy, but it is so located as to render it impossible to accommodate attorneys from different parts of the State who may seek its volumes after office hours without breaking into the rules appertaining to the conduct of the entire library. If the Law Library could be assigned to rooms separate and apart in the building, rules could be adopted applicable to it, and especially designed to accommodate the legal profession at all hours, thereby rendering it more serviceable to the people engaged in enforcing or defending their rights. This arrangement would provide accommodation in the present law room for another department of literature, filling a present necessity. A private reading and writing room could be arranged where the Law Library now is, making more available, and surely more inviting, current literature, which in this modern age affords research into every branch and condition of development.

The great study of the library, however, lies in the question of its utility. It is supported by the State, yet it is simply the State's store house of art and literature. If such is its design, it surely fulfills its purpose. If, on the contrary, it is supposed to become useful alike to the people generally of California, it falls short of its object.

I find in the discussion of this question that several ideas are advanced: One is to maintain it as a reference library; one is to make it a circulating library; and another is to so amend the laws as to bring it in contact with the several town and city libraries, and to inaugurate a system of exchanges with them, which would enable it to furnish them with books otherwise beyond their control. Even this plan would not contemplate the shipment of works of art, or rare and costly editions, yet it would enable the reader to receive the benefit of valuable matter now beyond the reach of his own local library. This is a proposition which should commend itself to the earnest consideration of your honorable body.

The library should be inventoried once a year, and a system should be adopted so as to enable the Librarian to do this with the regular force and without the necessity of employing extra assistance. This could be done by a system of exterior numbering, which would enable a person, by a simple numerical count, to ascertain by any missing number the name and title of the book represented thereby. Books are difficult to trace after they have been lost for a long period of time, and it appears to me that it is worth the trouble, if by reason thereof you can the better provide for the safe-keeping of half a million dollars' worth of State property.

I herewith submit a financial statement covering the forty-eighth and forty-ninth fiscal years, and make it a part of this my report.

Respectfully submitted.

FRANK L. COOMBS,
Librarian.
